Use the following passage to answer questions no. 7-10

Only hours to live...

Early one morning, Don Segal went into his mom's bedroom. He was puzzled because she hadn't come into his room to get him up. He found his mother, Sandra, lying in bed asleep but, for some reason, he couldn't wake her up.

Sandra has diabetes. During the night her blood sugar level hand dropped very low, and she had lost consciousness. She had gone into a coma. Without help, she could die in a few hours.

Although Dan was only three, he knew that he had to go and get his mom's medicine. It was a bottle of Gatorade, a sweet drink which she usually drank when her blood sugar level was low. As he carried the bottle upstairs, Dan dropped it, and it broke.

"I can't remember a thing," says Sandra, 33 from Tuscon, Arizona. "But Dan says he called the emergency service. Luckily, my mother had recently taught him the number." Emergency operator Betty Jackson took Dan's call.

"The little boy was very calm. He said: "My mom's sick. She needs an ambulance." asked him for his address, but he couldn't tell me, so I kept him talking while we traced the call."

Within minutes an ambulance was at the house. Dan had to stand on a chair to open the front door for the paramedics. They rushed upstairs to find Sandra. They noticed the broken Gatorade bottle and guessed she was diabetic and in a coma.

They gave her a shot to raise her blood sugar level and she regained consciousness very quickly. "Dan saved his mother's life," said paramedic Mick Rivers. "He was very calm and very grown-up."

"I'm so proud of Dan," Sandra said. "He knew exactly what to do."
